

Psychologists Protection Society (PPS)

Based in Scotland, the Psychologists Protection Society has been protecting counsellors, psychologists and psychotherapists across the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland for over 50 years ...

PPS is run by therapists, for therapists, we've got you covered. Let PPS provide the professional protection and membership support services you need, when you need them.

The Psychologists Protection Society Trust ...

.. is here to protect practicing professionals like you. PPS offers a range of specialist support when you face a professional complaint or claim. As a not-for-profit organisation, we're run purely for the benefit of our members. Governed by a Board of Trustees made up of fellow therapists, we have the expertise necessary to provide the best possible support, at a time when it is needed the most.

Why join PPS?

With so many protection and insurance providers out there, why choose PPS?

In addition to a Members Professional Protection Plan and Public Liability Insurance (see next page for details), members benefit from a range of services:

- PPS is here to support our members, not to make a profit
- PPS members can apply for assistance from our Discretionary Trust Fund, which in the past has provided:
 - help with employment issues and disputes
 - support with contractual and practice issues
 - additional counselling and mediation
 - and other professional issues not covered by insurance
- PPS wants to help members avoid professional difficulties in the first place. Our Trustees provide tailored CPD events and, when necessary, swift, therapy-specific advice
- PPS has over 50 years experience, we have a track record of providing help to our members when they need it the most

So why not join an organisation that is here to protect you while you do what you do best - helping your clients.
